ABOUT

This painting was made based on the work the Water Lilies 23 by the artist Claude Oscar Monet (1840–1926). Water Lilies is a series of approximately 250 oil paintings by Monet. Water lilies symbolize the pleasure and peace.

"Monet is a huge reference in my work. Not just because he likes to use and abuse the use of colors in canvas, but also because he loved nature." Francisco Lacerda.

This work Lilies 23 it is exhibited in the art gallery of the Museum Marmottan in Paris.

"First I saw this work I felt a sensation of Epiphany. It is one of the most beautiful paintings I ever saw in my whole life. The composition of colors is so perfect that we can see all rainbow colors in one canvas. This work Lilies it is almost entirely geometrical, because of my style. I see the world differently, and that's how I see. A mix of geometry and cloudy colors. The work Reflections of Clouds on the Water-Lily Pond it is probably one of the world's biggest painting. The sensation I describe it is also described by many spectators." Francisco Lacerda.

ABOUT

"Most my works are about loneliness. When i was in holidays, i went to Alentejo often. I was really in peace with my mind. Alone i could think about my life. Expectations. The nature inspire us to move into other directions. The right ones. It is such a nice but scary dichotomy between city and countryside. Only thing in common is the loneliness, we are feeling lonely wherever we are. Individualism is creating individual ways of life that in extreme will lead us to collective suicide. But i create works to project beauty. Beauty of nature. A refuge for problems. I really like Maluda and Noronha da Costa, portuguese artists, female and male, that never had true recognition." Francisco Lacerda.
